

CLE'S
APPROVED

stopRED.org

LUNCHTIME LEARNING W/DR. SIMMONS JULY 24TH AT NOON

“WHAT’S GOING ON?: Impacts of InCivility in the Public Sphere”

Open Conversations about Civility in Public Organizations

Juanita M. Cleaver Simmons, PhD, currently serves as Diversity Consultant for the Missouri Juvenile Justice Association’s stopRED (stop Racial and Ethnic Disparities) Division. She is Senior Diversity Consulting Partner with Atlanta-based Talent Management Consultants, LLC. She specializes in training and designs for diversity, equity, climate, workplace civility and inclusion. She is the former Vice President of DEI at Northwest Missouri State University. She was awarded emerita associate professor at the University of Missouri-Columbia, where she served in the Educational Leadership and Policy Analysis division of the College of Education.

Dr. Juanita Cleaver Simmons

This session presents an overview of current acts of (in)civility in America’s social sphere. It is believed that civil behavior is critical to mental health and the overall well-being of everyone. We provide an open platform for participants to exchange their experiences and recommendations to promote civility in the workplace. America’s culture war appears to increase anxiety and acts of incivility which might impact public servants in public institutions.

- What are the characteristics of civilizations that declined?
- What might be those strategies to illuminate positive and welcoming climate?
- How did we arrive at this Anti-Woke, Culture War?
- How does it really impact the work that we do in public institutions?
- What, if any, experiences have YOU had? Are you willing to share and help strategize with others?

Please click HERE to register